

Degree in Developmental Psychology and Education at the University of Pavia, the University at which he qualified as a psychologist. He was admitted to the school of specialization in psychotherapy. For the academic year 2012/2013 was a university tutor for the course of psychology of language development and methodology and data analysis techniques. At LabTalento, with the collaboration of the Province of Pavia, it deals with the "Orientare alla crescita", aimed at high-potential adolescents with learning difficulties, relationship or decision; deals with interviews with teachers of schools and training on the subject of the high potential. Coordinator of the project. He deals with guidance in primary and secondary levels. He teaches at the Master "Immigration, gender, family models and integration strategies" of Pavia University.